Dear Sir

I am writing to you in regards to FCC Docket 92-235. I am against scrapping part 90 and changing to part 88. I think it is unnecessary at this time as it will cost consumers and businesses money in a period of time they can least afford it. I think the idea has some merit but to try and change the existing infrastructure of communications at this time in the hope of a cure to congestion of the spectrum is foolish waste of resources. Yes, I would make money in the process but I think I stand to loose a great deal of my existing customers in the process as they can not afford the change in the middle of a recession.

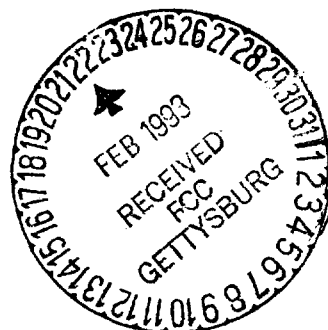

In essence I feel it would ruin existing radio systems, reduce the effective range of communications as well as lessen the reliability of radio equipment. Besides costing money we don't have and most of it going off shore in a time we need it in the United States.

I would like to see this proposal eliminated! I feel it will adversely affect my existing licenses as well as my client's systems.

Sincerely

Dan Chamness, NCE
